MINISTER'S LETTER

I hope that everyone who has had the chance to get away for a break was able to enjoy some sunshine wherever you went. Honestly, what's this weather been like?

And it's at times like this, before I go off on a rant about the weather, that I need to remind myself that I am a minister and not a meteorologist, so enough said about the weather and rant over!!! (Note: At the time of writing, the weather has greatly improved….typical!!)

One of the other things that I never forget is that if we never had members and didn't have a faithful congregation coming to the church on a Sunday, and of course if God wasn't at the centre of all that we do, then our churches would just be buildings and empty ones at that.

One of the most important things that Jesus did when he walked the earth was to earn people's trust and build relationships with them; and that's why relationship(s) lies at the heart of our Christian faith-our relationship with Jesus and our relationships with one another within the church and those members of the community outside the church.

Ultimately, we all need one another, and we all need the help of a loving God to help us through the journey of life irrespective of whether the journey is easy or hard.

I have the pleasure and responsibility of helping us make that journey together and to build and maintain the relationships that are enjoyed within St Quivox and those that are waiting to be enjoyed outwith the church.

As we continue journeying to whatever lies before us may we do so with the words: "everyone's loved, everyone's welcome, there is hope for all" shaping us as a church but also being witnessed by everyone within the wider community.

Despite the on-going uncertainty that we are dealing with, it is still a pleasure to be the minister of this community.

As always, if there is anything I can help with, or perhaps you would like a home communion, please feel free to get in touch by either phoning me at the manse 01292- 861641 or emailing me at JMcCutcheon@churchofscotland.org.uk

Our community worker, Paul Algeo left us at the end of July, and we wish him well for the future.

Given the perilous state of the national Church's finances, according to General Trustees at this years General Assembly, I wasn't sure if we would be allowed to replace Paul.

Thankfully, I have had it confirmed from Edinburgh that we are allowed to fill the post, and we will endeavour to do this alongside the other churches in North Ayr at the earliest and most appropriate opportunity.

Communion Service

Sunday 1st September 2024

For those of our members who are unable to get to church a home communion is available if you feel you want it or if it would be helpful. Please feel free to get in touch if I can help you with this.

MIRACLES ALL AROUND

Sometimes we can get caught up with all of the negativity that surrounds us and we lose sight of some of the good things that are taking place in our midst.

And that can be just as true for us as a church. Despite our lack of resources and numbers we are still doing a lot of things that many other churches with much greater resources are unable to.

For example, at the end of July we took 2 busloads of people from Dalmilling and the surrounding areas for a day out, all expenses paid: that is, 144 people from a community of high deprivation, who in many cases have been unable to go a holiday, were taken for a day out to Blair Drummond, and it never cost them a thing. Their travelling expenses, entry and packed lunch all being paid for through the hard work of others, including members of our church.

Secondly, for nearly 2 years now we have partnered with Whitletts Vic's in our Community Corner—providing a space and a free lunch for everyone who comes to us on a Wednesday afternoon. For those two years we have had an average of a couple of dozen coming every week. Sometimes there are more, sometimes there are less. But irrespective and without stating the obvious, it's still more than we get on a Sunday morning.

Throughout the cost-of-living crisis, we have not increased the hall charges for our many hall users, despite the subsequent cost that this has had on us.

And yet, we still seem to be able to pay our way. Now obviously there is a lot of wise housekeeping involved in this as well, but the point is, that as a small church with limited resources, we are playing a huge part within the community and in the lives of so many within it by trying to make life, accessibility and opportunity as easy and affordable as we possibly can.

There have also been the Christmas and Easter community lunches, as well as the other various events such as the Easter and Summer Fun days, the primary school age disco, the Halloween and Christmas parties to name but just some of the things that we have been doing to try and bring the church and the community closer together.

And these things are just the tip of the iceberg; we are putting in place a plan and vision that will hopefully enable us to do so much more within the community in the future.

On the fabric front, we have also renewed all the lights in the Wilson Hall to modern state of the art ones. Given that most of them weren't working, we had no choice, but we were so thankful to a member of the church who got one of their family to help us with this, and the job was done at a heavily discounted rate.

These things only happen because of the dedicated group of volunteers and church members who work relentlessly and joyfully (sometimes!!) to make these things happen.

We are so proud of them and so grateful for them.

John

PRESBYTERY PLAN UPDATE

Following on from the Kirk Session's vote for the Church to dissolve, the Convenor of the Presbytery's Planning Committee came forward with a proposal to solve all our problems in that the Union between St Quivox and St James be brought forward and for the new charge to be served by the 2 current ministers until one of us left.

This was agreed by the Kirk Session of St Quivox at its meeting on 11th June.

Unfortunately, we have not heard from any of the other parties involved, and as such we are frustratingly, unable to give the kind of update that we would have liked to, which also means that if we can't find a way forward for the Union then the Kirk Session's decision to dissolve the Church will be carried out at some point in the future.

Whilst it is not our preferred option, unless things change, it will be our only option.

In the short term we have also been promised by the Presbytery Clerk a couple of additional elders to help us with the multiple tasks that will need to be carried out when Pat steps down in September.

UNION

Our Remembrance Day service will be on Sunday 10th November at 10:00am. At approximately 10:50am we will then gather at Whitletts War Memorial for a short act of remembrance with prayers, silence and laying of wreaths.

Remembering the battles of 1944

At the same time as final preparations for D-Day were being made, the Italian Campaign was halted at the major German defensive 'Gustav Line'. The ensuing assaults of the Battle of Monte Cassino were the bloodiest of the Italian Campaign in which a multi-country Allied force distinguished themselves. The final breakthrough of 18th May enabled the advance north to liberate Rome on 5th June 1944.

While battle raged across Europe, the Japanese forces invaded India and pushed back the British 14th Army. British and Indian forces withstood weeks of siege and brutal fighting at the Battles of Kohima and Imphal. The defeat of Japanese forces in June (Kohima) and July (Imphal) was a turning point in the war in the east and the springboard for the later Allied liberation of Burma. The 14th Army was a true multinational force, with the majority of its troops from pre-partition India.

In September Operation Market Garden was a daring attempt to secure key bridges in German-occupied Netherlands in a bid to shorten the war. Some 35,000 paratroopers and glider-borne soldiers landed behind enemy lines to capture towns and key bridges, and were to be supported by a ground force of another 50,000. The courage and tenacity of Market Garden's troops has made this one of the most famous battles of the war.

The Canadian-led Battle of the Scheldt also involved Royal Marines and Scottish Division units in a bitter campaign to open a vital, secure passage to the port of Antwerp. Victory was achieved in October at high cost, but it meant the Allies could open the sea lanes into The Netherlands and Belgium for vital supplies and help fuel the continent's final liberation.

Each of these battles was a significant turning point in the war, and each was hard-fought and at a significant cost in casualties. Eight decades later we remember the service and sacrifice of the generation that opened the road to freedom.

St Quivox Parish Church in Ayr took 144 people to enjoy a free day out at Blair Drummond Safari Park. Those in attendance ranged from the ages of three months old to 75 years old.

The parish enjoyed a picnic and a sing-song on the way.

The day was organised by a team of volunteers and financed by parish fundraising as well as a grant from a local housing association.

Rev John McCutcheon, minister of Dalmilling Church thanked "everyone for making it the success it's been".

"There is a lot of poverty and deprivation within the parish and we are so pleased to have been able to play our part to ensure that for 144 people they have had a day away that they wouldn't have had otherwise," he said.

He said it was "great seeing the smiling and excited faces on so many youngsters when they saw the many different animals."

"We try to major on being a community church that focuses on the needs that are all around us and today has been another example of the church reaching out and going to the people rather than the other way round," he said.

"My family had the best day out we've had all summer! Loved the timings of the bus to ensure we got the most amount of time at the safari park! The packed lunch was above and beyond what we would have expected, it was so appreciated and there was something for all of us fussy eaters too! The volunteers were so welcoming and happy to help with anything we needed! Thanks so much for helping us give our daughters an amazing trip this summer." Dale McCarlie

Before the end of term, 1st Dalmilling Brownies joined up again with 3rd Alloway Brownies and had a joint 'Fun Night' at Nether Auchendrane Girlguiding Activity Centre in Alloway. The weather was kind to us, and everyone had lots of fun with outdoor and indoor games to choose from. The Brownies enjoyed playing on the playpark, and making lots of noise bashing old saucepans on the music wall, and playing with the mud kitchen (thankfully not as muddy as it sounds!). There were bats and balls to play with, and they enjoyed playing a game of croquet trying to dodge the molehills! They liked the very popular target throw game, also toss the hoops, giant Jenga, hopscotch, giant dominoes, a box of musical instruments to try out, and a large box of interlinking construction parts! They also had a go at Hapa-zome ('leaf bashing') which is a technique of leaf and flower printing onto cotton fabric by sandwiching the plant between the fabric and hitting it with a hammer!!

There was also fun indoors playing table tennis – many of the Brownies had never played it before and asked if we could have it out again another night.

After all the games, it was time for a Brownie Campfire singsong, and the girls chose songs including 'Fred The Moose', 'There's a Hole At The Bottom Of The Ocean', 'My Ship Sailed From China', 'Alice The Camel', and 'Campfire's Burning'.

Finally, the last activity was one of their favourites - playing parachute games with a genuine green SAS Parachute Regiment parachute which we recently found out had been donated to 3rd Alloway Brownies by the brother of a former Snowy Owl many years ago. The Brownies held on to the edge of the parachute and lifted it up and down, playing games which involved running under it and finally doming it over themselves with everyone tucked inside.

Then it was time to sing our goodbye song and say a last farewell to the older girls who are now old enough to leave Brownies and hopefully move on to Guides. There were a few teary eyes – both Brownies and Leaders - but everyone went home with badges and goodies, best wishes for the Summer, and fond memories of their time in Brownies.

Damilling is in great need of more volunteer Leaders for Rainbows, Brownies and Guides. If you are interested in volunteering, please get in touch. We are especially looking for adult Leaders to restart the Rainbows (age 5-7) and also Guides (age 10-14), and we have girls enquiring and waiting to join. A programme is already available, and full training and support will be given. If you or anyone you know might be interested in becoming a volunteer Rainbow or Guide leader, please get in touch. For more information, contact Brownie leader Lise Whittle at dalmillingbrownies@hotmail.com or District Commissioner Janis Meredith at dcjcentralayr@girlguidingayrshiresouth.org.uk

In a powerful moment, Christian Aid recently delivered letters from children in Gaza to 10 Downing Street. These letters, filled with emotion and urgency, are part of our collective call for an immediate ceasefire, an end to arms sales to Israel, and a condemnation of the de facto annexation of large parts of the occupied West Bank.

The letters, from our partner the Palestinian Centre for Human Rights (PCHR), ask the Prime Minister to intervene and help bring about a permanent ceasefire.

Mais Abdel Hadi: A cry for safety

In her letter, Mais Abdel Hadi, the President of the Palestinian Children's Council, shares the harsh realities faced by children in Gaza.

'We live in a constant state of fear and anxiety, with shells accompanying us around the clock,' Mais writes. 'Why must we children pay such a horrendous price?'

Mais, 15, is currently displaced with her family in Khan Younis Governorate. They have lost their home and belongings, and Mais notes, 'psychological wounds worsen, and physical suffering increases.'

Mais continues, highlighting the desperate conditions: 'We wake up every day to the sound of bombs and rockets, with no safe place to seek refuge.

Hala Abu Saleem: Dreams shattered by conflict

Hala Abu Saleem, 16, also shares her distress in a letter to the Prime Minister. After her home was severely damaged by bombing, she writes, "I should now be preparing for my final and most important year of school, but instead, I help my mother light the fire to cook what little food we have, food that doesn't even fill us."

Hala asks, 'Will my hand grow back? Or am I condemned to live without an arm?

'I am not a terrorist to be exterminated. I am not a terrorist for my house to be destroyed and my family killed. I am not a terrorist to live in a tent that is scorching during the day and freezing at night, unfit even for animals!'

"These letters from Gazan children offer a glimpse of the horrendous situation there. I hope and pray that the Prime Minister will read and reflect on their words and take swift action to address the crisis."

- Rev Claire Whitmore, Christians for Palestine.

Paris Olympics: A crucial reminder for climate action

As the world looks to Paris for this year's Olympics, it's crucial to reflect on a pressing issue that threatens our global community: climate change.

The games, set against the backdrop of a city where average temperatures have risen by 3.1°C since the 1924 Olympics, serve as a stark reminder of the urgent need to address the climate crisis.

The Paris Agreement's goal of limiting temperature rise to 1.5°C is under serious threat. Since the Paris Agreement was signed in 2015, we have witnessed a slew of devastating climate events: deadly heatwaves in India and Saudi Arabia, unprecedented temperature records in Canada, wildfires ravaging Southern Europe, floods in the UAE and severe droughts in China and East Africa.

The financial toll of extreme weather since COP28 in December last year has surpassed $41 billion in damages.

The Paris Olympics not only celebrate athletic achievement but also bring a spotlight to the urgent need for global climate action.

The actions (or inactions) of world leaders today will determine the future of our planet. Immediate steps are needed. With all eyes on Paris, we must focus on every world record being broken.

As we celebrate the spirit of global unity during the Olympics, let us also demand that our leaders take the bold actions required to address the climate crisis.

Olympics – Paris 2024

We've seen the Agonies and Ecstasies, the Triumphs and Disappointments. There have been lots of emotions on display with tears from success and failure to achieve the dream of winning one of those few medals.

The cycling has brought us many thrills and spills. In the mountain bike event GB rider Tom Pidcock had a puncture on lap 3, losing 40 seconds. By the last lap he had caught up with the leaders, had a spectacular overtake and took the victory.

The women's time trial took place in the rain and resulted in several riders crashing and some needing repairs to their bikes. The resilience of these riders who got up and carried on was truly remarkable. BMX was scary as bike and rider flew and spun through the air. Kieran Reilly of GB took Silver.

If you like nail-biting finishes then the place to be was watching Andy Murray and Dan Evans. In their first match they saved 5 match points to come through and win. Match two was no better as they were in the same position with a tie-break to decide the match. Again they came back from match points to win through on that occasion too.

Stamina, perseverance and belief were required in the Triathlon evident in both the women's and men's events. Unbelievable final few hundred metres for Alex Yee who took Gold and Beth Potter Bronze. Alex Yee and Beth Potter were also in the mixed Triathlon and achieved a team Bronze.

GBs women took gold in the quadruple scull in what was a photo finish. In rowing GB women's four got Silver and the men's four Bronze. Medals also came in the rowing eights with Gold for the men AND Bronze for the women. Ellie Aldridge got Gold in the women's kite.

A photo finish wasn't required in the pool when Duncan Scott powered through the final leg of the men's 4x200m freestyle relay for a team Gold and individual 200m IM silver. Also in the pool Tom Daley and Noah Williams got Silver in the 10m synchronised diving whilst the women got Bronze. Noah also got Bronze in the 10m individual dive. There was also Silver for Kate Shortman and Izzy Thorpe in Artistic Swimming.

Gymnastics also had it's fair share of flying in floor routines, pommel, rings and high bar. Years of dedicated training giving rise to exceptional feats of twisting and somersaults on the various pieces of apparatus. Bronze medals went to Jake Jarman for his floor routine and Harry Hepworth on vault. Gold in trampoline went to GB's Bryony Page

Shooting Gold went to Nathan Hale (men's trap) and Silver to Amber Rutter in (women's skeet).

GB Equestrians Team got Gold in Eventing and Bronze in Dressage with Individual Bronze in the same 2 disciplines.

Week 2 and Keely Hodgkinson led the way in the 800m taking Gold. Silver medals went to Josh Kerr in the 1500m and to Matt Hudson-Smith in the 400m. GB women got Silver in the 4x100m relay and the men got Bronze. Bronze medals also went to Georgia Bell in the 1500m and both the women's and men's 4x400m relay.

Meanwhile the youngsters showed their mettle in women's park Skateboard with 16 year old Skye Brown getting the Bronze medal.

The Boulder wall was conquered by GB Toby Roberts taking Gold in Climbing. Caden Cunningham got Silver in the 80kg category of Taekwondu.

Over in the Velodrome GB women took gold in the Sprint race and the men got Silver. GB men were up against Australia in the Team Pursuit final and got Silver whilst the women got Bronze. GB women got Silver in the Madison. On the final day Emma Finucane got Bronze in the Individual Sprint resulting in two Bronze and a gold for her.

Emily Campbell claimed Great Britain's final medal of the Paris Olympics with bronze in the women's +81kg weightlifting.

Team GB will leave Paris with 65 medals, one more than they won in Tokyo three years ago.

I did not watch every event but here are some of the ones I did. Can you find them in the Word Search opposite?

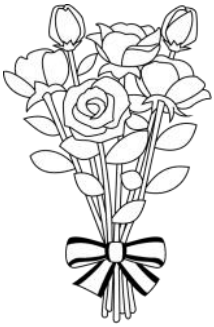
Flowers in Church



If you have been attending church, you will notice that flowers are once more decorating both the sanctuaries. After the service, these flowers are given to people who are ill, been in hospital, are housebound, or have been bereaved. They are sometimes given to celebrate good news or birthdays.

If you would like to commemorate a special date by donating flowers, speak to Rosemary if the date falls on a day we worship at Auchincruive, or Pat if it is Dalmilling.
